

Researcher Training and Development Sessions for 2023

Enrolment and Attendance Statistics by College (as of 19 October 2023)

As of 19 October 2023, we have offered 71 training information sessions and development workshops to researchers and research support staff at Flinders University.

In addition to the Colleges, we have included information for professional staff in the Portfolio of the Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Research). We have collapsed all other portfolios in the University into a single “Other portfolios” because of the large number of portfolios that our registrants represent (including Library, Information and Digital Services, and people who are not aligned with any portfolio in the enrol system).

Below is a breakdown of how many people enrolled in these sessions across the Colleges, as well as details about how many of those attended and did not attend the sessions. Overall, across all Colleges and portfolios, the average attendance rate for 2023 was 71.53%.

By far, the largest number of enrolments and attendees were in the College of Medicine and Public Health, which is representative of the large number of researchers and research support staff in that College. The highest attendance rate was in staff in the Portfolio of the Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Research), which includes Research Development and Support and the Strategic Partnerships Team.
